YOUNG MEN

Who may be suffering from the effects of youthful follies or indiscretion, will do well to avail themselves of this the greatest boon ever laid at the altar of suffering humanity. Dr. SPINNEY will guarantee to forfeit $500 for every case of seminal weakness, or private disease of any kind or character which he undertakes and fails to cure. He would, therefore say to the unfortunate sufferer who may read this notice, that you are treading upon dangerous ground when you longer delay in seeking the proper remedy for your complaint. You may be in the first stage; remember you are approaching the last. If you are bordering upon the last and are suffering some or all its ill effects, remember that if you persist in procrastination, the time must come when the most skillful physician can render you no assistance; when the door of hope will be closed against you; when no angel of mercy can bring you relief. In no case has the Doctor failed of success. Then let not despair work upon your imagination, but avail yourself of the beneficial results of his treatment before your case is beyond the reach of medical skill, or before grim death hurries you to a premature grave. Full course of treatment $25.00. Send money by Post-office order or Express with full description of the case. Call, or address

Washington, May 15.—The President sent to the Senate to-day the nomination of M. A. Sweeny to be Indian agent for San Carlos agency, Arizona.

Winslow to be Delivered Up.

The World's Washington dispatch from London to-day says: There is every reason to believe that the extradition article will be saved and Winslow be delivered up. It does not appear that Fish's position, so ably maintained, has been heretofore fully understood in England.

Louisiana Investigation.

A special committee to investigate the Federal offices in Louisiana to-day examined Major Seelye. He refused to testify in regard to the pay roll in the custom house at New Orleans on the ground that he would criminate himself by doing so, and the chairman of the committee was desired to apply to the Attorney General for the necessary papers granting immunity. As to other matters, the witness testified there was a defalcation of $65,000 in the New Orleans postoffice during Lowell's administration. Lowell, with his deputy and cashier were arrested and held to bail in the sum of $10,000, but were not prosecuted. Lowell turned over to his bondsmen $20,000 worth of property which was afterwards returned to him. The defalcation was finally compromised for $7,000. He further testified that Congressman Morey told him (witness) that the easiest way to settle the matter was to steal the bonds, and requested witness to do so. There were ten bondsmen who were assessed some $20,000 to secure a compromise. Seelye also testified that Jewett, then commissioner of the circuit court, gave him a warrant against twenty men in Morey's district. Morey erased the names of all but four whom he instructed Seelye to take to Monroe and keep them in jail until after the election. A warrant was also given for Isaac Newton Glover whom, by Morey's verbal instruction given to Seelye in the presence of Jewett, he was to take into the woods and kill. Glover was not arrested because a writ of habeas corpus required Seelye to remain with the other prisoners. Seelye says he did not intend to kill Glover, but left Morey under the impression that he would do it. The United States infantry and cavalry in the district were moved by Morey's directions. He furnished a list of his appointments and ordered the troops to be at such points the day before he spoke, as he was afraid to go without such guard. Seelye held ten of Morey's orders and telegrams received from him (Morey) for $2,000 cash, and five notes of $100 each, two of which are paid, two over due and one not due. Seelye retained copies.

The witness claimed he had memoranda by which he could give the times, places, names and all the details. Judge Wilson appeared as counsel for Morey, who was also present and requested the application for immunity from the Attorney General be postponed until after the cross examination of witnesses. Morey stated that evidence showed that if he, or Seelye one should go to the penitentiary, the case should be decided afterwards. If immunity should be granted to Seelye, he could not be prosecuted and Morey would be without means for proving him infamous. Morey will be heard to-morrow. The committee rescinded the resolution recently passed to leave New Orleans to-morrow. Major Seelye was formerly special agent of the postoffice department at New Orleans and afterwards U. S. deputy marshal in Louisiana.

Gen. Morey Expects to Prove Maj. Seelye a Perjurer.

Gen. Morey expresses himself confident of being able to prove not only that Major Seelye committed perjury, but that he has unsuccessfully approached friends of Morey's with propositions to give such testimony as might be desired provided he was compensated for such service. He will show that the money he paid Seelye was given him to avoid prejudice that might be created and thereby effect the contest now pending for Morey's seat, and put Morey to great trouble to disprove Seely's statements in time to remove said prejudice.

THE CENTENNIAL.

New York, May 11.—Under the head of Centennial notes the Tribune publishes the following: A business man who understands the value of advertising occupies an entire page of a recent number of the London News, in setting forth the excellence of goods exhibited by him at the Centennial. His advertisement is in of different languages.

The paying admissions on Friday amounted to $16,000.

Gov. Tilden will hold a reception in the New York State building on the 4th of July.

Mrs. Maxwell, the celebrated huntress of Colorado, exhibits a large collection of stuffed animals and birds killed by her own hands, including a buffalo, Rocky mountain lion, and a grizzly.

The Exhibition is to have a station and a committing magistrate all to itself.

Guide books in French and German are for sale on the grounds, and it is observed that some cheap if not mock, auction shops have sprung up like mushrooms in all business parts of Philadelphia.

Several wealthy Chinese gentlemen of Tient-In, Hong Kong and Canton, have sent to the exhibition an unusually valuable and interesting collection of curiosities and articles of vertu. The collection consists of elaborate carvings in blackwood, porcelain screens painted by hand, and vessels of all sizes in black, gold and scarlet lacquer, as well as those painted in ordinary style and a great variety of other objects all valuable and curious in each instance. These goods form a part of the private collections, and most of them are of great antiquity, and few are unpurchasable and could not be replaced. The collection is placed at $30,000. The owners are very anxious to obtain the exhibition held at Paris.

CANADA.

St. Lawrence Rising.

Montreal, May 15.—The water here is still rising. The shipping interests are very much injured. A large number of temporary wharves have been carried away and ferry boats cannot make regular trips owing to the difficulty to find a suitable place to land and carters now decline to transfer passengers to and from vessels owing to several accidents having occurred by driving into deep water.

Struck by Lightning and Destroyed.

Bondeau, Ont., May 15.—To-day the schoolhouse at this place was struck by lightning the flash appearing to explode all around the building. The children were playing in the yard at the time and nearly a dozen were knocked down. One named Thos. Scott was instantly killed and six others seriously and three others slightly injured.

CONGRESSIONAL.

Senate.

Washington, May 15.—During the morning hour a number of reports of an unimportant character were made from various committees. The Senate then went into session to deliberate on the question of jurisdiction of the Belknap impeachment.

When the doors reopened the Senate, after some unimportant legislative business had been transacted, adjourned.

House.

The House passed the bill under a suspension of the rules allowing Mrs. Fitch to receive her diamonds free of duty, and soon after adjourned.

PIONEER REUNION.

The committee of arrangements met in the Senate chamber at Salem, Saturday, May 13th, at 2 P. M., Mrs. J. F. Miller presiding, and the following members being present: Mrs. J. F. Miller, Mrs. John Minto, Mrs. S. A. Clarke, Mrs. B. H. Bowman, Miss Clara Watt, Miss Marie E. Smith and John W. Minto. On motion, J. A. Baker was added to the committee.

Chas E. Bray, of Portland was authorized to furnish a band of music for the occasion, and on motion Pete Emerson and Martin & Co. were authorized to open restaurants on the ground, the charges per meal being limited to 50 cents each.

Misses Clara Watt, Marie E. Smith, Hon. S. P. Chadwick and C. M. Cartwright were appointed the committee on finance.

The following committees were appointed on the annual ball.

Honorary committee—Hons. M. P. Deady, of Portland, L. F. Grover, Salem, J. R. Bayley, Corvallis, Henry Cann, Sr., Roseburg, Col. John McCraken and Capt. A. P. Ankeny, Portland, Capt. Medorem Crawford, Dayton; also Hon. J. W. Nesmith, Dixie, Hon. J. C. Tolman, Hon. Henry Klippel and Col. C. C. Beckman, Jacksonville, John Hudson, Esq., Astoria, and Hon. O. S. Savage, of the Dalles.

Floor Managers—Dr. J. B. Lee, Corvallis; Gen. Mart V. Brown, Albany; D. H. Looney, Jefferson; Ben Strang and John W. Minto, Salem; Walter S. Moss, Oakland; Ed. Taylor, Astoria; Hon. Geo. L. Curry, Portland.

Reception Committee—Eli Livingston, Roseburg; E. F. Thompson, Freeport; W. F. B[illegible], [illegible] Grim, Aurora; W. S. Eakin, Eugene; J. B. Herren, Albany; T. C. Geer, Butte[illegible]; Dan H. Murphy, Salem.

On motion, the sale of all intoxicating drinks on the ground was prohibited.

The committee then adjourned to meet at the same place Saturday, May 25th, at two o'clock P. M.

MRS. J. F. MILLER, President.
J. HENRY BROWN, Secretary.

It is feared the last cold snap damaged the buds on the Keely motor and it will not bear fruit this year. All it has accomplished so far has been to go on a "bust," and kick out the partition of the room in which it is kept. A twenty-seven dollar mule would have done as well.—Vicksburg Herald.

THE CHARGES AGAINST BLAINE.

Blaine and the Railroad Bonds.

New York, May 15.—Several journals this morning have long specials from Washington relating to the matter between Blaine and Riddle. Riddle has published a long answer to Blaine's statement made in the House on the 1st inst., stating that the story of his receiving $64,000 in Kansas Pacific bonds from J. B. Stewart, arose from a report circulated by Riddle's son in law Knowlton and afterward denied by him. Riddle's statement contains a letter from General Boynton which latter speaks highly of Knowlton. He reiterates the story Knowlton told Boynton of Blaine's mysterious visit to Stewart's private room and the transfer of twenty-five $1,000 bonds of the Union Pacific road to Blaine. This letter covers the main points regarding Knowlton's opinion as to Blaine's identity. As to Thomas Ewing's statement that it was John F. Blaine who was interested in the Kansas Pacific, Riddle quotes at length from the record of the suit of J. C. Stewart against the east division of the Union Pacific road concerning the ownership of 130 bonds placed in his hands, the facts of which he sets forth. He had submitted to Blaine this winter asking his explanation as a friend, but that gentleman neither gave any then nor afterward in his public statement. The case of Stewart against the Union Pacific is then quoted from, in which Blaine, or Jas. Blaine, or Lane or John F. Blaine is credited with fifteen shares of stock and which Riddle believes is James G. Blaine, for reasons he sets forth. The World says editorially on the subject: Riddle's threatened vindication has appeared. It is a document of formidable length and as formidable in its insinuations. We are left to infer that Knowlton did not know the speaker from his cousin, or that Stewart lied to save a friend, in order to show that Blaine possibly was connected with the Kansas Pacific road. Riddle makes a number of extracts from the testimony in the case between J. B. Stewart and the Eastern division of the Union Pacific, in which the interest of John E. Blaine is discriminated from that of James Blaine and James Lane. These extracts present a very ugly case, and it is clear they constitute the most damaging evidence yet produced against the ex-Speaker. It adds: "The especial point to them is that Riddle in company with General Garfield submitted the subject to Blaine's some time ago for explanation, and which he ignored altogether when making his statements in the House concerning the slanders in circulation against him. It is also without doubt the matter to which Medill, of the Chicago Tribune, and Smith of the Cincinnati Gazette called his attention more than one month ago, without receiving any answer to their inquiries. It is difficult not to suspect that we have not reached the true inwardness of this complicated story. The anxiety for the good name of his dead son in law hardly appears to be a sufficient motive for the vigorously sustained and virulent onslaught which Riddle has been making upon the ex-Speaker."

Col. Scott before the Committee.

Col. Scott will be the first witness before the Union Pacific Railroad committee to-morrow. It is understood he will give a full explanation of the mysterious loan of $64,000, made by the company while he was president on collaterals of the Little Rock and Fort Smith bonds, and will show that he has probably more knowledge of that transaction than any other officer of the company. His testimony will prove that Blaine had nothing to do with it, either directly or indirectly, and did not know anything about it at the time it occurred. He promises to give such details as will satisfy the committee conclusively on this point. The loss of a quarter of a million of U. P. bonds by the company did not occur under Col. Scott's administration, and he is unable to give any information about it. There is evidence it is believed that will show that these bonds have been abstracted.

The Investigation in Committee.

[For some cause the first portion of this dispatch had not been received at the hour of going to press.]

The interview between Blaine and himself took place in Washington. Blaine in this interview denied he had ever had possession of any L. R. & Fort Scott bonds, except those for which he subscribed and paid. Blaine did not say he held the 75 bonds for some of his constituents. On the contrary he said he did not and that he had nothing to do with the 75 bonds passed to the Union Pacific Railroad Co. Wilson talked with Dillon and others on this subject. Dillon had for two years been president of the company, and the only explanation he obtained that the bonds were put in by Col. Scott in accordance with an arrangement between him and the Union Pacific Railroad Company. These bonds remain on the books of the company as an unadjusted question, and Col. Scott has not yet received his salary for the time he was president of the company.

H. Rollins, secretary and Treasurer of the Union Pacific Railroad Company, testified to being interrogated by Hunton that he did not think Harrison offered the resolution in the board of directors to investigate the subject of ownership of the seventy-five bonds by the Union Pacific Railroad Company, but he thought that he simply made an informal motion to investigate the transaction at that time. Rollins had heard that the bonds belonged to Blaine, but he could not say from whom he derived the information. He could only state the fact that when Harrison made his motion, or suggestion, he remembered that the road and its management had been the subject of several severe criticisms in the newspapers and elsewhere. As this transaction had been closed up, he desired to obviate scandal in connection with Blaine's name. Whether the report was true or false he may have said to Harrison under these circumstances that the bonds in question were Blaine's, or some equivalent expression. In answer to a question by Hunton, witness testified he said that an investigation would involve Blaine, and I may have said that these were Blaine's bonds, or that he would be involved in the matter. I may have used words equivalent to these. I merely stated as a matter of memory that I heard these were Blaine's bonds, and that Blaine might be involved.

Q.—Then you confirm Harrison's statement?
A.—I have given you my statement.

Rollins, in further testimony, said Harrison was mistaken as to the time of the above mentioned occurrence. The Maine election having taken place two days previous to the meeting, when Blaine was triumphantly elected to Congress, Rollins did not ask Harrison to withdraw his motion but may have said to him that an investigation would involve Blaine.

Q.—How would the ownership of those seventy five bonds involve Blaine? A.—Because it would be thought a questionable transaction, as he could not see why the Union Pacific Railroad Co. should buy bonds of Little Rock and Fort Smith Railroad Co., or any other company. Rollins, in further response to questions, said in acting as he did, he desired to avoid scandal.

Q.—What scandal did you desire to avoid? A.—Reports connecting Blaine with the bonds.

Q.—In what connection was it a scandal? A.—It was treated as scandal then and I presume it is now. Unaccompanied by any explanation from Blaine, it would be regarded as a scandal, and the public would think it not right. That would be their judgment.

Rollins continued his testimony in regard to the bond and the Union Pacific Company. He said he did not know or remember from what source he learned Blaine was connected with the bonds and could not tell any circumstances that led him to expect that Blaine had any connection with the bonds.

Harrison was called and having been asked the question by Hunton, whether he could tell the proximate value of the seventy five bonds, replied that he had heard them spoken of as valueless bonds. When he made a motion in the board of directors for an investigation he believed them to be valueless and thought it strange that they should be found among the assets of the Union Pacific Railroad Company at a time when it was a large borrower and the per cent. income bonds commanded only 50 to 60 cents on the dollar.

Blaine—So far as the books and papers of the Union Pacific Railroad Co. are concerned with these bonds have you any reason to believe that I was corruptly associated with them?

Harrison—Only from what Rollins stated to me.

Blaine—Have you not stated that you had something that would blow Blaine sky high whenever you chose?

Harrison—I only repeated what Rollins said to me.

Blaine—You did not speak of having dynamite that would blow me up?

Harrison—Nothing of the kind. I have always had friendly feeling for you, and I hope you will come out of this matter satisfactorily.

Blaine, addressing Hunton, said that although the resolution of the House under which this investigation was held did not refer to him by name, the proceedings had been conducted as if he had been on the stand.

Hunton said that while it was true that Blaine's name was not found in the resolution there was not a man, woman or child but knew the investigation was designed for him. So Blaine must have understood it after his conversation with him.

Blaine thanked Hunton for his courtesy and kindness in opening the doors to this investigation and said, that on Col. Scott's testimony this case must stand or fall.

Col. Scott said he came before the committee according to summons and not on any body's side. He could explain not only all transactions with reference to himself but everything about the 75 bonds. This was a correct and proper transaction based on propriety due to Blaine it had which Mr. Blaine had nothing to do.

After recess Col. Scott was sworn and on being examined by Hunton, testified that he formerly owned those bonds of Little Rock & Fort Smith R. R. Co. and bought them a year and one or two months previously to his selling them to the Union Pacific Railroad. The purchase was made far to which he had nothing to do with the U. P. R. R. Co. He gave $64,000 to the bonds and sold them to the U. P. R. R. Co. through Morton Bliss & Co. for nearly $64,000. When in March 1871 he entered upon the duties of president of the company, the stock was low down and everything connected with it depressed, but it was not long before it was a marked improvement in all its affairs. He had believed the company would give him a liberal compensation for his services. He was pressed for money. He wanted more than a mere salary and it was finally suggested that the company should buy these 75 bonds of Little Rock Railroad. He wasn't to have the option of leaving them back. The executive committee agreed to buy the bonds at a price to be fixed through Morton Bliss & Co. and the bonds went to the Union Pacific Railroad Co. in this direct way and in no other. His years salary had never been paid, that would have been $50,000, with interest. If the Arkansas road had been completed the bonds would have been worth from 90 to 100 cents on the dollar. He had tendered the U. P. R. R. Co. several for which there was no market value. He was satisfied that if the Little Rock and Fort Smith Co's road had been built its bonds would have been as good as those of the Union Pacific to-day. The investment in those bonds was because the Company wanted to do the square thing with him. The Company did not display their usual [illegible] of their bonds and never expected that it would become a subject of investigation by a Congressional committee.

John McClure was sworn and testified he was acquainted with Josiah Caldwell, who was connected with the Little Rock and Fort Smith railroad company. He was asked the question: Did you ever hear from Caldwell of the disposition of any bonds of the company? when Platte interrupted, saying he had suffered no doubt in the estimation of good people because of the allegation that he was interested in bonds that went to the U. P. R. R., and as there was nothing else in the resolution under which this investigation was held he was entitled to a report on that subject, and did not want it complicated with anything. He wanted it unmixed with any other questions. It should stand exactly where witnesses left it. He thought he had a right in the name of justice, to make this demand. The witness McClure said he knew nothing about the matter that would be testimony.

Knowlton—Have you any knowledge or information as to the sale of the 75 bonds concerning which testimony has been taken? Answer—I never knew any bonds were sold, and all I know about them is what Caldwell told me.

It was decided that hearsay evidence could not be taken and the committee then adjourned.

Trouble Brewing in Syria.

London, May 15.—Vienna dispatches say disturbances are feared in Syria, where the excitement is daily increasing. Two English men of war arrived at Jaffa, three at Beyrout and one English and one French man of war at Latakia.

Affairs in Turkey.

Additional London correspondence says that late ministerial changes at Constantinople have been caused by a demonstration of 5,000 Mussulman theologians who sent a deputation to the Sultan requesting the removal of the Grand Vizier who was removed on this demand. Large crowds assembled at the installation of the new Vizier which so alarmed the Christians that they asked for protection from the foreign ambassadors. The new Vizier, however has pledged himself to maintain order. The Russian corvette [illegible] will sail from Nicholaif for Constantinople, where she will do service as guardship. Prince Alexis goes to Salonica. Svetlana. Calmness now prevails at Constantinople.

Constantinople, May 15.—Both telegrams state that tremendous pressure has been brought to bear on the conference there in favor of Russian armed intervention, and immediately against Constantinople.

What the London Times Says about the Conference.

The Times reviewing the proceedings of conference, says the announcement of complete agreement between the three imperial powers is satisfactory that as it appears that all plans of positive action are rejected and that the powers are about to tender their good advice again to the Sultan and insurgents, we think it would be premature to thank the chancellors for the Eastern question.

Bank of England.

London, May 15.—The amount of bullion gone into the Bank of England on balance to-day is £129,000. U. S. bonds 6's, sold, 104[illegible]; [illegible].

Liverpool Markets.

Liverpool, May 15.—Cotton is dull and easier; uplands, 5[illegible]; Orleans, 6[illegible]; sales, 8,000 bales; receipts, 20,000 lbs, of which 4,200 were American.

Wheat—Firmer; No. 1 spring 9s 3d, No. 2 8s 10d; winter 9s 6d. Corn steady. Wheat receipts for the past week from Atlantic ports, 11,250 quarters; Pacific ports, 21,000 quarters; other sources, 9,700 quarters. Receipts corn, 45,000 quarters.

The Caswell Mutineers in Custody.

London, May 15.—The two Italians, of the bark Caswell's crew, who left the vessel in a rail boat off Brazil are in custody in Buenos Ayres, where they landed.

Madrid, May 15.—Tuesday next government will act on the question of the reform of the Fueros in the Basque provinces. Delegates from Navarre have arrived to confer with the president of the ministerial council.

Prince Napoleon Elected Deputy from Ajaccio.

Paris, May 14.—Prince Jerome Napoleon has been elected deputy from Ajaccio.

Funeral of Ricard.

The funeral of Ricard, late Minister of the interior, took place to-day. In consequence of this event the debate on the amnesty motion, which was to have begun to-day in the Assembly, has been postponed.

The Imperial Council of Three Dissolved.

Berlin, May 14.—Count Andrassy left here last night for Vienna, and Prince Gortschakoff started for Ems to-day.

European Crop Reports.

London, May 15.—The Mark Lane Express says vegetation has made little progress since last week's report in consequence of the continued lowness of temperature. Autumn sown wheat is strong enough to withstand the cold, but barley and oats are suffering considerably. Thousands of acres in Essex have been sown with barley and other crops, the condition of the soil rendering it impossible to sow wheat. The backwardness of cereals, however, is not itself cause for alarm, and the changes of disastrous frosts are daily becoming more remote. There is little change in local trade, some cargoes of foreign as well as some English wheat have been taken for contract, but the export demand is generally confined to these transactions and Holland, France and Belgium are buying direct from New York, Odessa and other shipping ports. Supplies of foreign lately have been inconsiderable, but with the opening of navigation at St. Petersburg, we may expect an increase although it is probable that the earlier shipments thence will be mainly for Germany, which has thought a considerable quantity there. Maize has been freely taken for summer shipment, the very moderate prices tempting buyers.

Bombardment of African Towns.

In the House of Commons this evening the under secretary for the colonies, stated it was the intention to bombard towns on the coast of Dahomey, and a blockade would be instituted, commencing July 1st.

Insurrection in Turkey.

Constantinople, May 15.—It is officially stated that the Bulgarian disturbances are expected to cease shortly. The insurgents have been defeated with great loss in several engagements, and many have given in their submission. Fifteen thousand soldiers are now concentrated near Phillippoli.

Additional Russian, Italian and Greek men-of-war have arrived here.

Arrests at Salonica.

Salonica, May 15.—It is officially announced that 18 additional arrests have been made.

Trouble on the Turkish Frontier.

Athens, May 15.—The Turks are reinforcing their positions on the Greek frontier. Greece will take similar action in that quarter. It is alleged that foreign emissaries are endeavoring to induce the Christians on the frontier to revolt. Great agitation prevails in Crete.

No Pardon for McKee and Maguire.

Washington, May 15.—The Attorney General declines to interfere in the matter of the sentences of Maguire and McKee either by pardon or modification of sentence.

Impeachment Trial.

The Senate sitting in secret to-day as a court of impeachment, arrived at no vote as to the jurisdiction, though it is thought a vote will be reached to-morrow.

British House of Parliament.

London, May 15.—The House of Commons last night defeated Ryland's resolution that the House regrets that the progressive increase of expenditures commenced by the government should lead to an increase of income tax. Gathorn Hardy defended the increase of the army estimates. When the tramp of armed men was heard in every country of Europe, it was necessary that England should keep pace among nations. The resolution was rejected by 265 to 175.

OREGON.

Rev. Mr. Stratton's (of Albany) physician has forbidden his preaching in his present state of health.

The City of Salem is the only steamer on either the Umpqua or Willamette rivers that has a piano on board.

The annual meeting of the Universalist Convention for the State of Oregon, will meet at the town of Lena on the 8th of June next. Friends will be waiting at Salem and Lincoln to carry visitors to that place.

We are now in receipt of a small Democratic paper from Independence, published every Tuesday and Friday. It is well printed, half at San Francisco, half at Independence. It is in name a head of the newspaper kind but we suppose that will be remedied in due time and then it will be called the telegram.

The Difference.—A young boy who had been fishing in Jordan all day was slowly wending his way through the city last evening, when he was heard to complain: "If I was a horse, now, I'd be rubbed down and well fed, but I'm a boy, and I've got to go home, milk the cows, bring in wood, tote water, and rock the baby for an hour and a half."—Salt Lake Herald.

PAPERS RELATING TO EMMA MINE TRANSACTIONS.

The following papers, as published in the New York Tribune, are those which are said to show the connection of Gen. Schenck with sales of Emma Mine stock after he ceased to be a director in that company, and the relations which existed between Gen. Schenck and Mr. Fisher. Mr. Fisher, it will be remembered, was the man first met by Mr. Park and Mr. Stewart on their arrival in London, and who introduced them to the firm of Coates & Hankey, the house which first undertook to place the stock of the Emma Mine on the market. Mr. Fisher had previously been interested with Gen. Schenck in other speculations, as the letters recently printed in the London Hour and copied in the Tribune abundantly show. The first of these letters, now in the possession of the committee, is from Mr. Park to Mr. Fisher, and relates to the latter's settlement with Coates & Hankey for his introduction of Park and Stewart to them. It is as follows:

[Private.]
No. 45 Albemarle Street,
London, Dec. 15, 1871.

My Dear Mr. Fisher:—In conversation with Grant to-day, he said he had given Coates a check for £10,000, and that he (Coates) claimed a large sum for common subscription. I thought best to give you this information that you might get your portion before the thing gets "cold." You will not mention my name.

T. W. PARK.

Gen. Schenck had sworn that he never had a business transaction in London with Mr. Fisher. In view of this testimony, the following statement of account by Coates and Hankey is an interesting document:

20 Gresham St., Bank, E. C. (cor. Coleman st.,)
London, Sept. 30, 1872.

C. M. Fisher, Esq.—Dear Sir: We inclose a memo. of account for this settlement. Dr. yourself £197 0s 11d., and cr. Gen. Schenck £171 17s. 6d., £368 18s. 5d. Dr. yourself £230 10s. 8d. Cheque herewith, £138 7s. 9d.

We are, dear sir, yours, truly,
COATES & HANKEY.

The next letter was from Gen. Schenck to Mr. Fisher, and is as follows:

October 2, 1872.

My Dear Mr. Fisher:—I am just off to the country. On Sunday I will expect to see you by 11 o'clock or sooner, with certificate for the 500 and all closed. I am under promise to settle with Gager. If you were at home this week you might close out with good profit. Shares were 27 yesterday. Perhaps you were here. If in Paris, you ought to get back at once, and in time to strike. Yours in haste,

ROBERT C. SCHENCK.

The letters and telegrams given below show that Mr. Fisher had access to the private information which Mr. Park sent Gen. Schenck. The first is a telegram dated at Paris, Dec. 15, 1872. The Duncan to whom it is addressed is a broker in London. The dispatch is as follows:

Duncan, No. 37 Threadneedle street, London: Close out Emma at best. This is right.

FISHER.

The following letter explains that telegram:

[Private.]
Grand Hotel, Paris, Dec. 16, 1872.

Dear Duncan:—I telegraphed you last night to close out Emma, etc. This is strictly private; viz: The reason was that I met Gen. Schenck about 7.30 o'clock in the evening, and he told me he got a cable from Park that morning telling him to sell out at once at the best price he could get, and he (the General) sent Cheeseborough to London the same evening with instructions to consult Gages—who you and I know is in New York—and if I thought best to sell at once, &c., &c. That all means, as I look at it, that Park will not advance the $12,000 asked for that I told you all about, and that the dividends will stop. Don't you think so? I shall be at your office early Wednesday A. M. Hemma may be a good bear. I am I hope doing good here. I enclose a note to Took which send by one of my boys and see what he says. Truly yours, C. M. Fisher. Put Took's letter in an envelope. Let David or Wallington or some one else superscribe it.

The next telegram was dated one day later, and was as follows:

Duncan, No. 37 Threadneedle st., London: Sell 1,000 more. Dividend will be passed.

FISHER.

The following letter refers to the same subject:

Grand Hotel, Dec. 19, 1872.

Dear Duncan:—I can't get home before Saturday. I hope to do some good by staying. Hanley can keep you posted as to Emma, and so can Cook, and will, if you go or send to him.

P. S.—General telegraphed Cheeseborough to sell 2,000, as P. had telegraphed, hence I telegraphed you in haste for the mail.

Yours truly,
C. W. F.

Gen. Schenck has also testified that he had no communication with the board of directors of the Emma Mine after his resignation. The following telegram, dated at Paris, Dec. 17, 1872, has been found among the files of the Emma Mining company, and the original is now in the hands of the committee on foreign affairs:

Anderson, Chairman Emma Silver Mining Company, Queen Victoria street, London:—As shareholder, I implore Board not to suspend dividends.

SCHENCK.

The next day Gen. Schenck telegraphed again to Mr. Anderson, as follows:

Anderson, Chairman Emma Silver Mining Company, Queen Victoria street, London:—If dividend declared will willingly lend mine to company.

SCHENCK.

The following was the answer to this dispatch, a copy of which was sent to the address given and also to the American legation at Paris:

Gen. Schenck, Westminster Hotel, Rue de la Paix, Paris—Thanks for offer. Wingfield, a director, crossing to see you Friday morning to arrange.

These letters were not placed in evidence on account of an objection made by Mr. Chittenden, counsel for Gen. Schenck and Mr. Park.

An Unfortunate Combination.—Just before the war, says the Vicksburg Herald, a young lawyer put out his shingle here, upon which was printed, "Lander Thomas, Attorney-at-Law." He owned a negro named Bob, who was a notorious thief, and he was soon detected in burglary and arraigned before the city court. Of course his owner defended him, but the evidence was convincing, and he was sentenced to an acquaintance with the whipping post. As he was marched off by an officer, some one remarked to him: "Well, Bob, they found you guilty." "Yes," he answered, "My character and Massa Lander's pleading would hang anybody."

A Queer Town.—There probably is not to-day, says a Palisade (Nev.) letter, in the whole State of Nevada such a remarkable town as this. The occupation of the unlucky inhabitants who are not immediately connected with the railroad companies seems to be playing "bean poker"—fifty beans for a quarter—and the interest manifested in the loss or gain of a few beans shows conclusively the financial status of the players, who are generally surrounded by a fraternity of lazzaroni, stolid, unimaginative and always out of tobacco.

The largest soap boiler in the world, probably, may be seen at Babbitt's soap works in New York. It is made of wrought iron, and will hold 1,200,000 pounds of soap. Built in 1872, it extends from the ground floor of the building up through five stories, and is quite a curiosity in its line.

A sharp Englishman has written "a treatise on razors." By the way, we have never seen a razor with a treatise written on it.—Vicksburg Herald.

No Truth in the Story of the Lost Gold Ingot.

San Francisco, May 15.—The mint officials claim there is no truth in the sensational report published by the Chronicle regarding the discovery of a $4,000 ingot in a heap of ashes on a vacant lot in the vicinity of the mint. They assert it is absolutely impossible that such a thing should have occurred, unless the entire mint management was radically corrupt, or utterly perverted. The check is too swift and certain to allow any gross neglect, or dishonesty, to pass undiscovered for a single day. The ingot is asserted by the mint officials to be only a block of pelter.

O'Leary and Schmehl's Walking Match.

At 12:50 O'Leary had completed his sixty-second mile. Schmehl stopped for rest at 12:02 on his fifty-fifth mile. At midnight O'Leary and Schmehl began to walk. At 9 this morning the former completed his forty-sixth mile. Schmehl was two and half miles behind.

Steamship Collision.

San Francisco, May 15.—As the steamship City of Panama, which arrived last night, entered her berth at the Mail dock, she ran into the Australian steamer Zelandia, damaging her so that one of her water-tight compartments filled, and her stern sank in the mud. She will be raised and repaired in a few days.

Supply of Water for San Francisco.

The water commissioners to-day received propositions to supply the city with water works from Mount Gregory Water Company and Lake Tahoe. The former estimating expenses at about $10,000,000 delivered at Hunter's Point; the latter about $18,000,000 delivered in the city. The committee will probably start to-morrow on a tour of inspection of the various sources of water supply.

THE TERRITORIES.

Gen. Mart V. Brown has ordered an election of officers to fill vacancies in company E, Oregon militia, of Salem.

Seven hundred and sixty-five warrants were drawn on the treasury of King county during the year ending April 30, 1876, of an average value exceeding thirty dollars. A new issue began on the 1st of May.

The Eliza Anderson is the largest vessel ever hauled out on the Hammond ways at Seattle, and the first effort on Wednesday evening, proved too heavy, breaking down the cradle. This was repaired the next day, and the steamer hauled up.

Fishing for black bass has been carried on at Port Townsend for weeks past, with a vigor never witnessed there before. As many as 20, 30, 40, 50 and even 60 persons at a time, have been seen with their poles outstretched along the wharf. After sundown is the biting season. Forty or fifty pounds of black bass have been taken of an evening in a few hours.

Suspecting the help in his family of robbing him, a gentleman had her premises searched. Most of the articles missing were there found, including jewelry, glassware, linen, etc., to the value of six or eight hundred dollars. Sixty or eighty dollars in coin also missing were not recovered. The woman was prosecuted on the charge of petit larceny, found guilty, and fined forty dollars and costs.

In accordance with the law passed by the last legislature, the commissioners of King county have divided that county into three districts for the election of assessors and commissioners. The precinct of Seattle is entitled to one commissioner, and one assessor; the combined precincts of White river, Renton, Slaughter and Muckleshoot Prairie, to one each; and the precincts of Duwamish, Cedar river, Lake Washington, Newcastle, Samish, Squak, Snoqualmie, Dolan's camp and Duval's camp, to one each also.

A French engineer named d'Adhemar has invented a coating or paint which is said to preserve iron from rusting better than anything known, besides being cheaper than red lead paint. Some years ago in exploring some salt mines in the Pyrenees, he discovered iron balls in them unoxidized; later, in Guadaloupe, he found iron scales or scraps which had lain in the ground without rusting. In both cases he observed that the ground contained sulphur; and the exterior films of the metal in both cases proved to be substantially the same, being sulphureted. Acting on these hints he has prepared a pigment which can be applied with any of the ordinary painter's vehicles, and which vulcanizes, as he says, the surface of the iron as sulphur does india-rubber, remaining unchanged for years.

History of a Family Argument.—An uptown man, who believes in self improvement, suggested to his wife recently that they should argue some question frankly and freely every evening, and try to learn more of each other. The question for the first night happened to be, whether a woman could be expected to get along without a spring hat, and he took the affirmative, but when he was last seen he had climbed up into the hayloft and was pulling the ladder up after him.—Norwich Bulletin.

A Syllogism.—Every Union printer is "down on" a rat. The Scriptures stutteringly affirm that Noah was down on A-ra-rat. Therefore, Noah was a Union printer.

CLACKAMAS CO. SENATORIAL CONTEST.

Oregon City, May 15, 1876.

To the Editor of the Oregonian:

The Standard of last week evinces its fear of the strength of our Republican candidate for State Senator in a half column article of such diaphanous construction that it needs only to be read to convince voters of this county that Mr. McCown is the proper man for senator, as against John Myers; and when the Democratic Standard gives us this assurance, we need not go further. I therefore call attention to this as the best argument that can be used in favor of our candidate; for it is to be presumed that Mr. Myers and his friends have opened the campaign with their heaviest artillery, and that they have tried to say the worst they can. The editor of the Standard will do well to compare the few short lines which he devoted in the Enterprise, two years ago, to Bro. Offield, then Democratic candidate for senator, and now senator, with the lengthy article with which he assails Mr. McCown now. He will not deny, I am sure, that the length of the two articles is a fair measure of what he, himself, thinks of the comparative merit and fitness of the two candidates. He was ashamed of Mr. Offield then, and now, having put up a man not much better fitted, for the same place, is afraid of Mr. McCown. Mr. Myers fully and anxiously shares this latter feeling with him.

I cannot for a moment think of accusing the Democratic party in this county of being well represented—to use the Standard's word—in the person of their present Senator; but if I would allow myself the luxury of retaliation upon its brilliant and original sally in reference to silk purses and sow's ears, I might intimate to the editor that many Democratic, as well as other voters in this county, have a well grounded impression that the wing of the party to which the Standard editor and Mr. Myers belongs is most excellently represented by the slab-sided philosopher who owes his present position to fate and the Democratic ring—not to the choice of the great body of the Democratic party, as they would fain believe.

Mr. Myers and the Standard editor, through this article, accuse Mr. McCown of making money, never paying taxes, hiding his gold behind "the odious indebtedness law." I hope that all who read the article referred to will pay particular attention to this passage and find out from Mr. McCown's neighbors that he makes no pretentions whatever to wealth. He is indebted in a moderate sum, as the tax book shows. After getting satisfied as to Mr. McCown, as you easily will, please look over the tax books at the sheriff's office for an exhibit of Mr. Myers' indebtedness. John Myers, it will be remembered, was the author of a bill to repeal the "odious indebtedness law" referred to by the Standard—that is, the law which allows a man to deduct his indebtedness from his taxable property—and he made a most vigorous blowing about the same—all for capital; for it turned out, as he must have known it would, if he had an ounce of brains or a particle of knowledge of the constitution of this State, that the law, which he so grandiloquently fathered, was inoperative and void. This must have been the result of an intentional mistake or gross ignorance. If the voters of this county wish to know which of these alternatives should be [illegible] on Mr. Myers, it may aid them in their investigations to know that he did then, and does now take advantage of, and "hide his gold behind" that [illegible] "odious," &c., which he so bravely pro[illegible] to be wo[illegible] to rep[illegible]. Last year Mr. Myers had [illegible] property, as the tax book shows, to the amount of $15,780, with an indebtedness of $12,000 to be deducted. According to this showing, the Senator was well nigh bankrupt at that time. The tax book for the past year shows that Mr. M. has, in the past [illegible] been very prosperous in his business, the exhibit showing that he had only $7,000 indebtedness to plead, and that he paid taxes, after making this deduction, and also after a liberal reduction by the county board of equalization, on $6,214. It is to be hoped that the Standard will pursue this "odious indebtedness" business still further.

To show further the weakness and utter impotence of the article referred to—except as an electioneering document in McCown's favor—and to what straits our neighbors are reduced for capital, I call attention to the awkward attempt to fasten on McCown an uncertain and unspecified stigma in connection with a certain purchase of carbolized hose, by the City Council, while he was mayor. Now, the fact is, the City Council was charged by the Standard—in the interest of Mr. Myers, perhaps, who was the defeated candidate for mayor—with incurring an unnecessary expense in making the purchase referred to; and the charge was wholly and absolutely refuted by a report of the council in the matter, published in the very next issue of that paper. Has the editor forgotten? The City Council did make the purchase referred to, greatly to the satisfaction of the citizens of this town, and of the fire companies the best judges. But in any event, the mayor of this town, as Mr. Myers and the Standard well know, has not even a vote in the City Council.

No man in this county stands better socially and as a good citizen, than does this same F. O. McCown; and this puny effort of the Standard, and those in whose interest it is run, to make political capital out of facts drawn entirely from its fancy, will make more friends than enemies for him. Among those who know him personally, such assertions, even though much more happily expressed, will never provoke a discussion as to their truth or falsity.

TUESDAY MORNING, MAY 16, 1876.

EX-GOVERNOR SEYMOUR ON THE SITUATION

Ex-Governor Seymour of New York, is reported to have remarked to an interviewer of the Herald that the Republican party has lost the confidence of the country, but the Democracy have not gained it. There is a deal of wisdom in the observation. It cannot be denied that the country has not that unquestioning faith in the Republican party which it once had. This is seen not only in the newspapers, local meetings and other more or less informal expressions of public sentiment, but also in the results of State elections, and notably in the Congressional elections of last fall. But it is equally apparent that the Democracy have not succeeded to whatever of popular confidence the Republicans have lost. The tidal wave that made the majority in the House of Representatives Democratic has receded, as appears by the later elections in New Hampshire and Connecticut, and by all the less authoritative expressions of public opinion. The incapacity of the majority in the House to rise to any higher plane than that of the most abject slavery to party spirit, together with their utter failure to prepare any plan for reforming the civil service, has added the feeling of disgust to that of disappointment. Nor have the Congressional investigations tended in any measure to propitiate public favor. While the great mass of the people of all parties are heartily glad to see corruption unearthed wherever it exists, these virtuous investigators have been so plainly inspired in their work by partisan purposes, so reluctant to touch a Democratic ulcer, and so zealous in probing Republican sores, that, instead of gaining, they have lost prestige and standing by their conduct. It is certainly true, as Mr. Seymour says, that the Democracy have not become the possessors of that portion of the public confidence which the Republicans have lost.

But there is another utterance of this Democratic philosopher which will hardly be accepted by intelligent readers as so wholly correct as that we have just referred to. He says the corruptions which have been discovered of late, in the public service, are not of such recent origin as many suppose, but that they began immediately after the close of the war. Does Mr. Seymour suppose the memory of the people of these United States is so short as not to reach back to the last two Democratic administrations? If he does not think so, the brazenness with which he disregards the recent and well remembered history of American politics is past all previous example. What is all the peculation from the close of the war down to this time compared to that of the administration of Buchanan, the last reign of the Democratic party? A mere bagatelle. Belknap sold post-traderships and received some $12,000 or $15,000 therefor; and he is impeached, just as he should be; and the Democratic conscience is shocked beyond expression and the Democratic sense of the national dishonor is too intense for any words to express. Belknap's last Democratic predecessor in office stole $870,000 at a single larceny; and a Democratic House of Representatives did not impeach him, nor did the mortification of the Democratic party at the national disgrace break out in very loud lamentations. And this was not after the war, but before it. The people of Oregon, who read Mr. Seymour's ex cathedra announcement of the time from which the chronicles of corruption are henceforth to date, may perhaps recollect the management of Indian affairs in this State—then Territory—under Pierce's Administration. We do not care to mention names, but any one who was here at that day, and who took notes of current events, will have no difficulty in pointing to several private fortunes which are directly traceable to that branch of the public service. Poor men became rich in an incredibly short time, with no visible resources except very moderate salaries. An Indian agent with a small salary left Oregon for the Southern States just before the war, carrying away $70,000 in gold coin and promissory notes for nearly $10,000 more which he had loaned; and all this with no fortune to begin his career of Indian agent withal. So long as these things remain fresh in memory, Mr. Seymour's statement that the corruption which pervades the public service dates no farther back than the close of the war, will scarcely be suitable for this market.

MR. LOTAN'S CARD.

Mr. Committeeman Lotan rises to explain. His card, which we cheerfully publish, makes up in length what it lacks in point. While pretending to reply to our remarks on the conduct of the primary held in North Portland precinct, he carefully omits to meet the main charge. He says there was no understanding that the same delegates chosen to the former convention should be chosen to this one. We do not care to go into any dispute with Mr. Lotan about the facts, further than to state positively that there was such an understanding arrived at in the negotiations to which he alludes; that he was present and assented thereto, not tacitly, but expressly, and stated that that would be a convenient means of getting Caywood out of the way without a direct contest with him. He said he was a friend of Caywood and hoped to get him off the track without having to oppose him directly. This is the plain unvarnished truth, as it can be substantiated by several witnesses.

Mr. Lotan says so soon as he found he could not secure the support of all parties for Caywood, he withdrew from the negotiations because he thought it would not be fair to get possession of their programme while he was supporting Caywood. Those who have been acquainted with Mr. Lotan's methods as a local politician, will believe every word of that. Of course they will.

It is a significant admission of Mr. Lotan's that Caywood's primary received "only votes for gentlemen that were supposed to be Caywood's friends." And yet he says no votes were rejected. That is to say, that primary was simply held as a Caywood primary, not as a Republican primary. Well, that is just what we said about it before.

It will be observed that Mr. Lotan does not attempt to dispute the main item alleged against his primary, namely, the bullying it through with hired roughs. That is the most serious allegation in the case. It is too easily proved for Mr. Lotan to hazard a denial, so he passes it over in silence.

But Mr. James Lotan, Central Committeeman and U. S. Inspector of Boilers, finds at last a weapon with which he can demolish the whole pestiferous race of Republicans who have refused heretofore to submit to such conduct as that by which he put up his primary. He squelches them at once by a gentle reminder that they have been going off after "strange idols," and that the OREGONIAN is a "recent convert" to Republicanism. We frankly admit that Mr. Lotan has never for a moment been unfaithful to his one idol—government pap. The men he thus sneers at were Republicans when he was, no doubt, training with the Democracy (they being in power and having therefore all Inspectorships of Boilers to bestow) and have never seen the day they were not more Republican than he. Their faithfulness to Republican principles is what gave them courage to resist the efforts of the Lotans et id genus omne to locofocoize the party. It is to be hoped not one of them will ever so far forget his Republican principles as not to take the same course again should similar circumstances arise.

But we have already given quite enough of space to this matter. We see no objection to the gentlemen selected as delegates by Caywood's primary. They are, so far as we know them, fair men. It is to the method of their selection we object, as unrepublican and unfair. We trust the Convention will act considerately and wisely, and secure that harmony among all Republicans which is indispensably necessary. On this county, in all probability depends the complexion of the legislature. Let no trifling matter stand in the way of harmonious action and co-operation.

ARABIAN HORSES FOR ENGLAND.

Three or four years ago an English gentleman of wealth and enterprise, imported a number of the finest Arabian horses that could be procured with a view of trying the effect of an additional infusion of Eastern blood into the veins of the English race horse. The scheme was not supported by English breeders and it practically failed. We see by the following that the Prince of Wales is about to make a similar experiment. The Herald says:

During the visit of His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales to Cairo, on his return from India, he purchased at a public auction of Ali Pacha's racehorses a Syrian horse named Alep for 260 guineas. Alep is a brown horse, standing fourteen hands two and a half inches, and has been very successful on the Egyptian turf. He is now eight years old, and has won races at every meeting in Cairo and Alexandria since he was a three-year old, and is still as sound on his legs as the day he was foaled. At the last Cairo meeting he won four races right off the reel, two of them being over hurdles, in which branch of the sport he never had an equal in Egypt. The horse is going to England in the Serapis, under the charge of Mr. T. Batten, his late trainer and jockey. The Khedive, in his endeavors at retrenchment, having withdrawn his subsidy from the races at Cairo and Alexandria, Egypt, it is feared there will be no more racing for some time at either of those places. This will throw several English trainers and jockeys in the country out of employment.

It may be remembered by some that about twenty years ago, the present Khedive, then a young man, challenged English sportsmen to run a long distance race against his horses. The challenge was accepted, and an Irish mare, Fair Nell, which was once used as a cover hack, by Mr. Edward Tattersall, and was by no means a first-class race horse, was sent out to Alexandria to run the race, which was a dash of sixteen miles over the desert sands. The best Arabian racers were entered, and the hopes of the Egyptians were very high; but the Irish mare more than doubly distanced all her competitors, coming in more than a quarter of a mile ahead of any of the others in the race.

It was this easy defeat of the best Arabians by a second rate English racer, that settled English opinion as to the comparative merits of the two breeds and deterred English breeders from encouraging the importation of Arabian horses for race horse breeding purposes.

The investigation into the connection of Mr. Blaine with the bonds of the Little Rock and Fort Smith Railroad Company, which went into the possession of the U. P. R. R. Co., shows even more conclusively than his own statement that he had no connection whatever with them. Col. Scott's evidence shows how those bonds got into the U. P. R. R. Co.'s hands.

Colonel Forney says that Bristow is a dull, heavy man, obstinate as a mule, with a thick skull, into which it is necessary to bore before pouring ideas.—N. Y. Herald.

Col. Forney is perfectly competent to bore, but it will be necessary for him to hire some one else to pour in the ideas.

We understand that on next Wednesday evening Gen. E. L. Applegate will speak in in this city on the political situation, and that he will be replied to by a prominent Democrat.

The more the scandalous charges against Mr. Blaine are examined into, the more clearly their falsity and Mr. Blaine's purity and integrity become evident.

AN OREGON SURVEYING CONTRACT.

The Washington correspondent of the Philadelphia Times, April 21st, sends this: "The testimony of D. P. Thompson, Governor of Idaho, leaves no doubt as to the part ex-Attorney General Williams played in the matter of helping J. J. Hoffman, his friend and former partner, to levy toll on two Oregon surveying contracts. Hoffman was not a surveyor and had no right to have anything to do with government surveys or to be the beneficiary of such contracts, but he was a friend of Williams, and Williams wanted to put money in his (Hoffman's) pocket. The matter was arranged in this wise: One Meldrum was a surveyor, and to him was awarded upon Williams influence, two contracts, worth $15,000, for which award it was stipulated beforehand that Hoffman was to have $2,000 as a bonus. Williams after the contract was made actually advanced $1,500 or $1,600 to Hoffman, and then used his influence to procure the contracts. The bargain was dated July 2, 1872, at Portland, Oregon. Thompson swears as follows: 'The contract that Williams signed was that if the Surveyor General of Oregon would give two surveying contracts, of $5,000 each, east of the Cascade mountains, to certain parties who might be designated, he would advance on his return to Washington, on my order, drawn on E. & C. E. Tilton, of New York, a certain amount of money, about $1,500 or $1,600, and on the completion of these surveys the money was to be refunded to Williams by the parties, and the agreement was signed by Williams, Meldrum and myself and possibly by Hoffman.' This is the substance of the contract."

A Wisconsin editor illustrates the prevailing extravagance of the people of the present day by calling attention to the costly baby carriages in use now, while, when he was a baby, they hauled him around by the hair of the head.

A GOOD WASHING MACHINE.
THE
COMPLETE WASHER

WITH GREAT SATISFACTION WE TESTIFY to the wonderful qualities of the "COMPLETE WASHER" Machine, which is in use by many of the best families in our city, because it makes the wash day one of pleasure and causes no wear on clothing or tire to operator. It is by excessive and exhaustive labor by the women of our land, who are toiling all day long on an ordinary family washing in the hot suds, wearing away their knuckle bones and very lives every week in the year, and going out from the seething tub to the cold air, which causes our mothers, sisters and loved ones to take cold so easily, causing pains in the back and limbs, rheumatism, pleurisy, chills and fever, etc., sometimes resulting in death. Ladies rescue yourselves from this thraldom, and purchase a "Complete Washer," the Premium Washer of our land, which economizes time and does away with this excessive labor; for you know that for one to handle by hand large articles, such as quilts, etc., that it is exceedingly difficult by the old mode. We advise and entreat everybody, therefore to have one of these Machines. They are within the reach of every family.

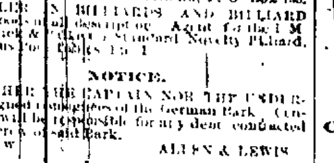

Best of Wringers and Clothes Lines always on hand.

Of the great number who have this Machine in Oregon and on the Pacific slope, not one would part with it. Hundreds and thousands of such testimonials could be gotten.

To Protection Steam Fire Engine or any Hand Engine on the Pacific coast: At an informal meeting of members of Willamette Engine Co No 1, held at their hall Monday evening, it was decided to invite you to a friendly contest of engines, we using the old hand engine formerly used by this company. We have no thousand dollars to put up on the result but we have an old hand engine of which we are justly proud. The engineer of this hand engine don't get a hundred dollars a month but he nevertheless knows his business, so should you feel disposed to give us a trial we shall endeavor to entertain you to the best of our ability. MEETING OF THE GRAND ENCAMPMENT--REPORT OF OFFICERS, ETC ADDRESS OF THE ... PATRIARCH

The annual communication of the Grand Encampment of Oregon was held last evening at Odd Fellows Temple at ... o'clock

In the absence of the worthy scribe, C. P. Bacon, Mr J H Lyon was appointed to fill that position temporarily

The reports of the scribe and treasurer were ... and referred to the appropriate committee

THE ... ADDRESS.

The Grand Patriarch Mr A J Marshall delivered the following address which was referred to the proper committees, when the encampment adjourned until next Friday:

To the ... of the Grand Encampment I. O. O. F. of Oregon: Officers and Patriarchs: In accordance with our laws we have assembled in annual communication. How swiftly time flies. How rapidly we travel. Another year with its joys and sorrows has past and we are here to counsel together for the advancement of the sublime principles of this branch of our order. The past year has been one of prosperity throughout this jurisdiction. Our onward progress has been marked with a steady increase in our membership. New life seems to pervade the whole patriarchal branch and many are seeking shelter beneath the tent. Then let us onward in the good work. Go on. Be that the word. Go on in every laudable effort to elevate the standard of our order and in its enduring, its great principles. And while we congratulate one another and grasp the warm hand of our brethren let us not forget to render thanks to our Heavenly Father and invoke the continuance of his mercies and guidance in the future. Let us look to him with pure hearts and clean hands ever mindful that by him we live, move, and have our being.

I submit for your consideration an ... of my official acts since the last session of the Grand Encampment

DISPENSATIONS.

In the matter of granting dispensations to brothers to receive the degrees in another jurisdiction which you referred to me at our last session, I report that I have in all cases refused to grant dispensations for such purposes, believing that where it may be admissible under the law it is of doubtful policy. If brothers desire to receive the degrees for the purpose of instituting an encampment it seems to me that our law provides another better and safer way of consummating the same end, hence my action in such cases. During my term of office I have at various times granted dispensations allowing brothers to receive degrees in less time than by law required, but only upon a proper showing by the encampment asking for the same. On February 4th 1876 I received a petition from Brothers J W Wisdom, J O Sterns, J P Atwood, J P Ross, R Alexander, I M Alfred and W G Umberger asking for a dispensation allowing them to receive the encampment degrees to enable them to institute an encampment at Baker City, Oregon, which said petition was accompanied with the proper certificates and being fully advised in the premises I did on the 7th day of February 1876 issue a dispensation in accordance with the laws of our order in such case made and provided and commissioned Patriarch Phil Metschan as Special Deputy Grand Patriarch to confer the degrees upon the brothers and for the purpose above named, which he reports he did on the 19th day of April 1876, and herewith I submit said report together with a petition from said brothers and would recommend that their prayer be granted

On the 25th day of March, 1876 I received a petition from Patriarchs Henry Ream, A ... Sears, H L Thompson, J M Shelley, J S Grimes, James Garden and I K Zumwalt asking for a dispensation to institute an Encampment at Harrisburg, Linn county, Oregon, and on the 1st day of April, 1876, I issued a dispensation in compliance with the prayer of said Patriarchs, and commissioned Patriarch J J Walton Jr as Special Deputy Grand Patriarch, to institute an Encampment as aforesaid. He reports that owing to sickness and other causes he will not be able to institute said Encampment until after the present session of this Grand Encampment. I would recommend that a charter be ordered to issue to the above named Patriarchs when they institute said Encampment, as prayed for in their petition

APPEALS

It gives me pleasure to report to you as a token of the harmony that prevails in our order that I have received but one appeal during my term of office, which is herewith submitted

COMMUNICATIONS

Herewith I submit for your consideration certain documents from the Grand Lodge of the United States and from committees on Centennial celebration

APPOINTMENTS

Upon the 24th day of May 1875 I received an official communication from Patriarch A Kollner, D D Grand Sire, notifying me that the Grand Sire of the Grand Lodge of the United States had granted the prayer of Alpha Encampment No 1 W T, thereby placing said Encampment under the jurisdiction of this Grand Encampment, whereupon I appointed Patriarch H G Struve as D D Grand Patriarch and gave him charge of said Encampment as such officer

By act of the Grand Lodge of the United States at its last session Vancouver Encampment No 1 British Columbia was placed under the jurisdiction of this Grand Encampment from and after the first day of January 1876, therefore I did on the first day of January 1876 appoint Patriarch James D Robinson as D D Grand Patriarch and placed said encampment under his charge as such officer

REPORTS

Herewith you will please find the reports of the D D Grand Patriarchs for the past year so far as I have received them. In this connection I would recommend that a D D Grand Patriarch be appointed in and for each encampment in this jurisdiction, from the fact that our encampments are located so far apart that it would work a hardship upon both the D D Grand Patriarchs and the encampments to have more than one encampment in a district for the present at least. At this time I desire to return my sincere thanks to those officers for their prompt attention to all matters entrusted to them and the vigilance and care with which they have watched over the encampments that have been placed under their charge and especially for the uniform courtesy and kindness they have shown to me during my administration

CONCLUSION

Patriarchs in a short time my official relations with you will cease and the honors and responsibilities of this high position will pass to another and I trust to abler hands. While yet your presiding officer permit me to express my thanks for the trust and confidence you bestowed on me when called upon to assume the duties of Grand Patriarch and whatever errors of omission or commission I have committed attribute them to the head and not the heart. And in taking leave of you permit me to urge upon all the exercise of that golden rule which teaches us to do unto others as we would have them do unto us so that when the watches are passed and the journey of life accomplished we shall receive a welcome by the Grand High Priest above.
Fraternally submitted

MR. JAS. LOTAN RISES TO EXPLAIN.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

In your issue of this morning under the head of "Saturday's Primaries" you devoted considerable attention to me, giving me more notoriety than I had supposed I was entitled to and that too of an unenviable character and with a making numerous grave charges against me.

So far as the charges and insinuations you have made apply to me I pronounce them wholly and absolutely false and as being without the slightest foundation in point of fact.

In the article referred to speaking of the former county convention you say "It has been generally understood that the same delegates were to be selected in the city precincts. This it was thought would ... or ... convention ... and be the means of putting a ticket ... without any ... this plan Mr James Lotan, chairman of the county committee was pledged. This Mr Editor you should know and almost every one who had anything to do with the attempt lately made to heal the breach in the Republican party does know to be untrue.

I have always stated and it was universally understood that Mr Caywood is, and has been for years, my personal friend and no matter how I felt in respect to the advisability of nominating him for sheriff I considered myself in duty bound to support him as long as he was in the field and sought the position.

When the proposition was first made to heal up old sores and attempt to reconcile both wings, as I may term them, so of the Republican party, I being chairman of the county committee, with some other gentlemen who for convenience sake we will call straight Republicans, were selected to meet and confer with some few gentlemen that had been prominently identified with the Independent party.

After the first few interviews and when the matter had assumed some definite shape and a reconciliation had been accomplished and I thought it was time to make preparations for our county ticket I withdrew from the meetings and consultations then going on for the reason as I openly avowed that I was friendly to Mr Caywood and considered myself under obligations to support him for sheriff and as I found the gentlemen who comprised this conference were opposed to Mr Caywood it would be wrong in me to remain with them and learn their plans and projects for the coming campaign, so far as the office of sheriff was concerned. In which I could not join them. I, however stated to all with whom I conversed upon this subject that no matter what was the result and who was nominated by the Republican convention for sheriff as well as the other offices they should receive my earnest and unqualified support

Your comments upon the proceedings at North Portland precinct also do me great injustice. I shall briefly state what did transpire there and permit you and your readers to draw your own conclusions

Mr Geo L Story, who is actively seeking the nomination for county clerk as I have subsequently learned was detailed to take charge of and carry North Portland precinct and if possible elect its delegates to the county convention, the same gentlemen who had attended the former convention

I went there to assist in electing as delegates gentlemen who were friendly to Mr Caywood. When the hour arrived for organizing I proposed to Mr Story that as we were representing different interests we had better each select a judge and have them elected which would obviate any disagreement or dissatisfaction which proposition Mr Story declined to entertain and said he proposed to organize the primary his own way and that I might do the same. Mr Story then proposed a name for judge (I do not now recollect who it was) and he was promptly voted down. I then proposed two men for judges and they were elected by a large majority. I then proposed to Mr Story that if he desired it one of the judges would retire, and he could select some one to fill his place but Mr Story refused to listen to this. We then proceeded with the primary in the usual and ordinary way and then Mr Story started an independent primary in the same building and at a short distance from where we were holding the regular primary. The regular primary the one that was first organized received a large majority of the votes that were cast, of course Mr. Story's primary receiving only votes for Mr Story's delegates and the regular primary receiving only votes for gentlemen that were supposed to be Mr Caywood's friends though it is but fair to state that at neither place was any votes rejected

These are the facts as they really exist and all that I have done and for which I have been so severely censured and unjustly abused is that I have had the hardihood to express my preference for Mr Caywood for Sheriff over his competitors. I had always believed that it was right for every citizen to support such men for office, as he saw proper and that the primaries are the proper places to take the initiatory steps and that it was commendable in him to do it honorably, openly and above board. If I am wrong in this perhaps your strictures are not wholly groundless

You have said also, "the convention should rebuke at once the attempt to carry primaries with hired roughs and the committee man by admitting the delegates selected by the Republican primary and rejecting those of the Caywood concern

It seems to me that this is strong language to use to call men that have acted with the Republican party for years, that have never followed strange idols that never went off to any side show or with any Dolly Varden ticket and who would not even for the sake of office combine with the Democracy to defeat the Republican party as has been done by some hired roughs

There is another matter that I may as well advert to now--both sets of delegates voted for in North Portland precinct will undoubtedly present their claims for admission as delegates to the county convention. The convention is the sole judge of who should be admitted and it, after a thorough investigation, will doubtless arrive at some satisfactory conclusion, to which all must submit and the advice or dictation to the county convention by the OREGONIAN is uncalled for and unwarranted, and is especially inappropriate from so recent a convert to Republicanism as the OREGONIAN is

I feel assured that I have been condemned by you upon a mere onesided statement and had you had an opportunity to learn the facts as they are, the matter would have been entirely different and I been spared the mortification that your article necessarily caused

Another fire alarm was given about 10 o'clock this morning to which the department responded. It proved to be at the outer edge of the city limits at least a mile distant from the engine houses. Chief Engineer Olinger at once ordered No 1's to house their engine as well as the hook and ladder company their trucks, sending No 2's to the scene of action, they being in the lead. The boys settled down to their work with a vim, and were soon on hand, where they did excellent work in saving some large outbuildings but a few feet distant. The flames had too much headway on the house to be placed under control. The furniture was all saved, and the loss amounting to about $1,000 was fully covered by a policy in the old Phœnix of Hartford Connecticut

TUESDAY MORNING, MAY 16, 1876.

EX-GOVERNOR SEYMOUR ON THE SITUATION.

Ex-Governor Seymour of New York is reported to have remarked to an interviewer of the Herald that the Republican party has lost the confidence of the country, but the Democracy have not gained it. There is a deal of wisdom in the observation. It cannot be denied that the country has not that unquestioning faith in the Republican party which it once had. This is seen not only in the newspapers, local meetings and other more or less informal expressions of public sentiment, but also in the results of State elections, and notably in the Congressional elections of last fall. But it is equally apparent that the Democracy have not succeeded to whatever of popular confidence the Republicans have lost. The tidal wave that made the majority in the House of Representatives Democratic has receded, as appears by the later elections in New Hampshire and Connecticut, and by all the less authoritative expressions of public opinion. The incapacity of the majority in the House to rise to any higher plane than that of the most abject slavery to party spirit, together with their utter failure to prepare any plan for reforming the civil service, has added the feeling of disgust to that of disappointment. Nor have the Congressional investigations tended in any measure to propitiate public favor. While the great mass of the people of all parties are heartily glad to see corruption unearthed wherever it exists, these virtuous investigators have been so plainly inspired in their work by partisan purposes, so reluctant to touch a Democratic ulcer, and so zealous in probing Republican sores, that, instead of gaining, they have lost prestige and standing by their conduct. It is certainly true, as Mr. Seymour says, that the Democracy have not become the possessors of that portion of the public confidence which the Republicans have lost.

But there is another utterance of this Democratic philosopher which will hardly be accepted by intelligent readers as so wholly correct as that we have just referred to. He says the corruptions which have been discovered of late, in the public service, are not of such recent origin as many suppose, but that they began immediately after the close of the war. Does Mr. Seymour suppose the memory of the people of these United States is so short as not to reach back to the last two Democratic administrations? If he does not think so, the brazenness with which he disregards the recent and well remembered history of American politics is past all previous example. What is all the peculation from the close of the war down to this time compared to that of the administration of Buchanan, the last reign of the Democratic party? A mere bagatelle. Belknap sold post-traderships and received some $12,000 or $15,000 therefor; and he is impeached, just as he should be, and the Democratic conscience is shocked beyond expression and the Democratic sense of the national dishonor is too intense for any words to express. Belknap's last Democratic predecessor in office stole $870,000 at a single larceny; and a Democratic House of Representatives did not impeach him, nor did the mortification of the Democratic party at the national disgrace break out in very loud lamentations. And this was not after the war, but before it. The people of Oregon, who read Mr. Seymour's ex cathedra announcement of the time from which the chronicles of corruption are henceforth to date, may perhaps recollect the management of Indian affairs in this State—then Territory—under Pierce's Administration. We do not care to mention names, but any one who was here at that day, and who took notes of current events, will have no difficulty in pointing to several private fortunes which are directly traceable to that branch of the public service. Poor men became rich in an incredibly short time, with no visible resources except very moderate salaries. An Indian agent with a small salary left Oregon for the Southern States just before the war, carrying away $70,000 in gold coin and promissory notes for nearly $10,000 more which he had loaned; and all this with no fortune to begin his career of Indian agent withal. So long as these things remain fresh in memory, Mr. Seymour's statement that the corruption which pervades the public service dates no farther back than the close of the war, will scarcely be suitable for this market.

MR. LOTAN'S CARD.

Mr. Committeeman Lotan rises to explain. His card, which we cheerfully publish, makes up in length what it lacks in point. While pretending to reply to our remarks on the conduct of the primary held in North Portland precinct, he carefully omits to meet the main charge. He says there was no understanding that the same delegates chosen to the former convention should be chosen to this one. We do not care to go into any dispute with Mr. Lotan about the facts, further than to state positively that there was such an understanding arrived at in the negotiations to which he alludes, that he was present and assented thereto, not tacitly, but expressly, and stated that that would be a convenient means of getting Caywood out of the way without a direct contest with him. He said he was a friend of Caywood and hoped to get him off the track without having to oppose him directly. This is the plain unvarnished truth as it can be substantiated by several witnesses.

Mr. Lotan says so soon as he found he could not secure the support of all parties for Caywood, he withdrew from the negotiations, because he thought it would not be fair to all portions of their pet nominee while he was supporting Caywood. Those who have been acquainted with Mr. Lotan's methods as a local politician, will believe every word of that. Of course they will.

It is a significant admission of Mr. Lotan's that Caywood's primary received "only votes for gentlemen that were supposed to be Caywood's friends." And yet he says no votes were rejected. That is to say, that primary was simply held as a Caywood primary, not as a Republican primary. Well, that is just what we said about it before.

It will be observed that Mr. Lotan does not attempt to dispute the main item alleged against his primary, namely, the bullying it through with hired roughs. That is the most serious allegation in the case. It is too easily proved for Mr. Lotan to hazard a denial, so he passes it over in silence.

But Mr. James Lotan, Central Committeeman and U. S. Inspector of Boilers, finds at last a weapon with which he can demolish the whole pestiferous race of Republicans who have refused heretofore to submit to such conduct as that by which he put up his primary. He squelches them at once by a gentle reminder that they have been going off after "strange idols," and that the OREGONIAN is a "recent convert" to Republicanism. We frankly admit that Mr. Lotan has never for a moment been unfaithful to his one idol—government pap. The men he thus sneers at were Republicans when he was, no doubt, training with the Democracy (they being in power and having therefore all Inspectorships of Boilers to bestow) and have never seen the day they were not more Republican than he. Their faithfulness to Republican principles is what gave them courage to resist the efforts of the Lotans et id genus omne to locofocoize the party. It is to be hoped not one of them will ever so far forget his Republican principles as not to take the same course again should similar circumstances arise.

But we have already given quite enough of space to this matter. We see no objection to the gentlemen selected as delegates by Caywood's primary. They are, so far as we know them, fair men. It is to the method of their selection we object, as unrepublican and unfair. We trust the Convention will act considerately and wisely, and secure that harmony among all Republicans which is indispensably necessary. On this county, in all probability depends the complexion of the legislature. Let no trifling matter stand in the way of harmonious action and cooperation.

ARABIAN HORSES FOR ENGLAND.

Three or four years ago an English gentlemen of wealth and enterprise, imported a number of the finest Arabian horses that could be procured with a view of trying the effect of an additional infusion of Eastern blood into the veins of the English race horse. The scheme was not supported by English breeders and it practically failed. We see by the following that the Prince of Wales is about to make a similar experiment. The Herald says:

During the visit of His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales to Cairo, on his return from India, he purchased at a public auction of Ali Pacha's racehorses a Syrian horse named Alep for 260 guineas. Alep is a brown horse, standing fourteen hands two and a half inches, and has been very successful on the Egyptian turf. He is now eight years old, and has won races at every meeting in Cairo and Alexandria since he was a three-year old, and is still as sound on his legs as the day he was foaled. At the last Cairo meeting he won four races right off the reel, two of them being over hurdles, in which branch of the sport he never had an equal in Egypt. The horse is going to England in the Serapis, under the charge of Mr. T. Batten, his late trainer and jockey. The Khedive, in his endeavors at retrenchment, having withdrawn his subsidy from the races at Cairo and Alexandria, Egypt, it is feared there will be no more racing for some time at either of those places. This will throw several English trainers and jockeys in the country out of employment.

It may be remembered by some that about twenty years ago, the present Khedive, then a young man, challenged English sportsmen to run a long distance race against his horses. The challenge was accepted, and an Irish mare, Fair Nell, which was once used as a cover hack, by Mr. Edward Tattersall, and was by no means a first-class race horse, was sent out to Alexandria to run the race, which was a dash of sixteen miles over the desert sands. The best Arabian racers were entered, and the hopes of the Egyptians were very high, but the Irish mare more than double distanced all her competitors, coming in more than a quarter of a mile ahead of any of the others in the race.

It was this easy defeat of the best Arabians by a second rate English racer, that settled English opinion as to the comparative merits of the two breeds and deterred English breeders from encouraging the importation of Arabian horses for race horse breeding purposes.

The investigation into the connection of Mr. Blaine with the bonds of the Little Rock and Fort Smith Railroad Company, which went into the possession of the U. P. R. R. Co., shows even more conclusively than his own statement that he had no connection whatever with them. Col. Scott's evidence shows how those bonds got into the U. P. R. R. Co.'s hands.

Colonel Forney says that Bristow is a dull, heavy man, obstinate as a mule, with a thick skull, into which it is necessary to bore before pouring ideas.—N. Y. Herald.

Col. Forney is perfectly competent to bore, but it will be necessary for him to hire some one else to pour in the ideas.

We understand that on next Wednesday evening Gen. E. L. Applegate will speak in in this city on the political situation, and that he will be replied to by a prominent Democrat.

The more the scandalous charges against Mr. Blaine are examined into, the more clearly their falsity and Mr. Blaine's purity and integrity become evident.

AN OREGON SURVEYING CONTRACT.

The Washington correspondent of the Philadelphia Times April 21st, sends this: "The testimony of D. P. Thompson, Governor of Idaho, leaves no doubt as to the part ex-Attorney General Williams played in the matter of helping J. J. Hoffman, his friend and former partner, to levy toll on two Oregon surveying contracts. Hoffman was not a surveyor and had no right to have anything to do with government surveys or to be the beneficiary of such contracts, but he was a friend of Williams, and Williams wanted to put money in his (Hoffman's) pocket. The matter was arranged in this wise: One Meldrum was a surveyor and to him was awarded upon Williams' influence, two contracts worth $15,000, for which award it was stipulated beforehand that Hoffman was to have $2,000 as a bonus. Williams, after the contract was made, actually advanced $1,500 or $1,600 to Hoffman, and then used his influence to procure the contracts. The bargain was dated July 2, 1872 at Portland Oregon. Thompson swears as follows: The contract that Williams signed was that if the Surveyor General of Oregon would give two surveying contracts of $7,000 each, east of the Cascade mountains, to certain parties who might be designated, he would advance on his return to Washington, on my order, drawn on E. & C. E. Tilton, of New York, a certain amount of money about $1,500 or $1,600 and on the completion of these surveys the money was to be refunded to Williams by the parties and the agreement was signed by Williams, Meldrum and myself and possibly by Hoffman. This is the substance of the contract."

A Wisconsin editor illustrates the prevailing extravagance of the people of the present day by calling attention to the costly baby carriages in use now, while, when he was a baby, they hauled him around by the hair of the head.

NOTICE.

The undersigned in taking leave of Portland returns his sincere thanks for the liberal patronage that has been bestowed and would bespeak for his successors a continuance of the same.

NO MORE BALDNESS. MRS. S. LORD, Agent for Mrs. Moore's Great Scientific Hair Reproducer,

WOULD INFORM THE PUBLIC THAT SHE has opened parlors for the treatment of Ladies and Gentlemen for the cure of Baldness in all its stages, and a few treatments will convince the most skeptical that this is no exaggeration. Weak, decaying and falling hair made strong, healthy and vigorous. Hair guaranteed in all cases where directions are faithfully followed. No mineral or damaging substances used or disagreeable methods. The treatment is pleasant and soothing, bringing the scalp rapidly into a natural, healthful tone, and furnishing the proper elements to the bulbs and hair, which is produced in a surprisingly short space of time.

Ladies and gentlemen desiring treatment please call at her Parlors and the most satisfactory proofs will be furnished. Photographs of prominent men taken before and after treatment can be seen at her rooms. Visitors always welcome. Preparations sent to all parts of Oregon and Washington. Room 16, First National Bank Building.

This is to certify that I can vouch for the efficacy attributed to Mrs. Moore's Hair Restorative. my3d2w JULIUS R. GOLDSMITH, Portland.

A GOOD WASHING MACHINE. THE COMPLETE WASHER.

WITH GREAT SATISFACTION WE TESTIFY to the wonderful qualities of the "COMPLETE WASHER" Machine, which is in use by many of the best families in our city, because it makes the wash day one of pleasure, and causes no wear on clothing or tire to operator. It is by excessive and exhaustive labor by the women of our land, who are toiling all day long on an ordinary family washing in the hot suds, wearing away their knuckle bones and very lives every week in the year, and going out from the seething tub to the cold air, which causes our mothers, sisters and loved ones to take cold so easily, causing pains in the back and limbs, rheumatism, pleurisy, chills and fever, etc., sometimes resulting in death. Ladies rescue yourselves from this thraldom, and purchase a "Complete Washer," the Premium Washer of our land, which economizes time and does away with this excessive labor; for you know that for one to handle by hand large articles such as quilts, etc., that it is exceedingly difficult by the old mode. We advise and entreat everybody, therefore, to have one of these Machines. They are within the reach of every family.

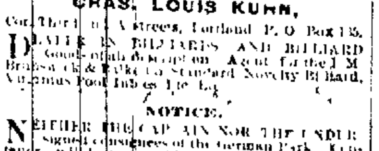

Best of Wringers and Clothes Lines always on hand.

Of the great number who have this Machine in Oregon and on the Pacific slope, not one would part with it. Hundreds and thousands of such testimonials could be gotten.

CHALLENGE.

To Protection Steam Fire Engine, or any Hand Engine on the Pacific coast: At an informal meeting of members of Willamette Engine Co. No. 1., held at their hall, Monday evening, it was decided to invite you to a friendly contest of engines, we using the old hand engine formerly used by this company. We have no thousand dollars to put up on the result, but we have an old hand engine of which we are justly proud. The engine of this hand engine don't get a hundred dollars a month, but he nevertheless knows his business, so, should you feel disposed to give us a trial, we shall endeavor to entertain you to the best of our ability. Respectfully,

MEETING OF THE GRAND ENCAMPMENT—REPORTS OF OFFICERS, ETC.—ADDRESS OF THE GRAND PATRIARCH.

The annual communication of the Grand Encampment of Oregon was held last evening at Odd Fellows' Temple, at 6 o'clock.

In the absence of the worthy scribe, C. P. Bacon Mr. J. H. Lyon was appointed to fill that position temporarily.

The reports of the scribe and treasurer were read and referred to the appropriate committees.

MR. MARSHALL'S ADDRESS.

The Grand Patriarch, Mr. A. J. Marshall, delivered the following address, which was referred to the proper committees, when the encampment adjourned until next Friday.

To the R. W. Grand Encampment I. O. O. F. of Oregon—Officers and Patriarchs: In accordance with our laws we have assembled in annual communication. How swiftly time flies; how rapidly we travel. Another year with its joys and sorrows has past, and we are here to counsel together for the advancement of the sublime principles of this branch of our order. The past year has been one of prosperity throughout this jurisdiction. Our onward progress has been marked with a steady increase in our membership. New life seems to pervade the whole patriarchal branch, and many are seeking shelter beneath the tent. Then let us onward in the good work. Go on. Be that the word. Go on, in every laudable effort to elevate the standard of our order, and in disseminating its great principles. And while we congratulate one another, and grasp the warm hand of our brethren, let us not forget to render thanks to our Heavenly Father and invoke the continuance of his mercies, and guidance in the future. Let us look to him with pure hearts and clean hands ever mindful that by him we live, move, and have our being.

I submit for your consideration and action my official acts since the last session of the Grand Encampment.

DISPENSATIONS.

In the matter of granting dispensations to brothers to receive the degrees in another jurisdiction, which you referred to me at our last session, I report that I have in all cases refused to grant dispensations for such purposes, believing that, while it may be admissible under the law, it is of doubtful policy. If brothers desire to receive the degrees for the purpose of instituting an encampment, it seems to me that our law provides another better and safer way of consummating the same end; hence my action in such cases. During my term of office I have at various times granted dispensations allowing brothers to receive degrees in less time than by law required, but only upon a proper showing by the encampment asking for the same. On February 4th, 1876, I received a petition from Brothers J. W. Wisdom, L. O. Sterns, J. P. Atwood, J. P. Ross, R. Alexander, F. M. Alfred and W. G. Umberger, asking for a dispensation allowing them to receive the encampment degrees, to enable them to institute an encampment at Baker City, Oregon, which said petition was accompanied with the proper certificates, and being fully advised in the premises, I did, on the 7th day of February, 1876, issue a dispensation in accordance with the laws of our order in such case made and provided, and commissioned Patriarch Phil. Metschan as Special Deputy Grand Patriarch to confer the degrees upon the brothers and for the purpose above named, which he reports he did on the 19th day of April, 1876, and herewith I submit said report together with a petition from said brothers, and would recommend that their prayer be granted.

On the 28th day of March, 1876, I received a petition from Patriarchs Henry Ream, A. Z. Sears, H. L. Thompson, J. M. Shelley, J. S. Grimes, James Garden and I. K. Zumwalt, asking for a dispensation to institute an Encampment at Harrisburg, Linn county, Oregon, and on the 1st day of April, 1876, I issued a dispensation in compliance with the prayer of said Patriarchs, and commissioned Patriarch J. J. Walton, Jr., as Special Deputy Grand Patriarch, to institute an Encampment as aforesaid. He reports that owing to sickness and other causes he will not be able to institute said Encampment until after the present session of this Grand Encampment, I would recommend that a charter be ordered to issue to the above named Patriarchs when they institute said Encampment, as prayed for in their petition.

APPEALS.

It gives me pleasure to report to you as a token of the harmony that prevails in our midst, that I have received but one appeal during my term of office, which is herewith submitted.

COMMUNICATIONS.

Herewith I submit for your consideration certain documents from the Grand Lodge of the United States, and from committees on Centennial celebration.

APPOINTMENTS.

Upon the 24th day of May, 1875, I received an official communication from Patriarch A. Noltner, D. D. Grand Sire, notifying me that the Grand Sire of the Grand Lodge of the United States had granted the prayer of Alpha Encampment, No. 1, W. T., thereby placing said Encampment under the jurisdiction of this Grand Encampment, whereupon I appointed Patriarch H. G. Struve as D. D. Grand Patriarch, and gave him charge of said Encampment as such officer.

By act of the Grand Lodge of the United States at its last session, Vancouver Encampment, No. 1, British Columbia, was placed under the jurisdiction of this Grand Encampment from and after the first day of January, 1876; therefore, I did on the first day of January, 1876, appoint Patriarch James D. Robinson as D. D. Grand Patriarch and placed said encampment under his charge as such officer.

REPORTS.

Herewith you will please find the reports of the D. D. Grand Patriarchs for the past year so far as I have received them. In this connection, I would recommend that a D. D. Grand Patriarch be appointed in and for each encampment in this jurisdiction, from the fact that our encampments are located so far apart that it would work a hardship upon both the D. D. Grand Patriarchs and the encampments to have more than one encampment in a district, for the present at least. At this time I desire to return my sincere thanks to those officers for their prompt attention to all matters intrusted to them, and the vigilance and care with which they have watched over the encampments that have been placed under their charge, and especially for the uniform courtesy and kindness they have shown to me during my administration.

CONCLUSION.

Patriarchs in a short time my official relations with you will cease, and the honors and responsibilities of this high position will pass to another, and I trust to abler hands. While yet your presiding officer permit me to express my thanks for the trust and confidence you, bestowed on me when called upon to assume the duties of Grand Patriarch; and whatever errors of omission or commission I have committed attribute them to the head, and not the heart. And in taking leave of you permit me to urge upon all the exercise of that golden rule, which teaches us "to do unto others as we would have them do unto us," so that when the watches are passed and the journey of life accomplished, we shall receive a welcome by the Grand High Priest above.

Fraternally submitted,

ANDREW J. MARSHALL, M. W. G. P.

OFFICERS ELECTED.

The following officers were elected to serve for the ensuing year: M. W. Grand Patriarch, J. F. Backensto, of Oregon Encampment No. 5; M. E. G. H. Priest, T. A. Davis, of Ellison Encampment No. 1; R. W. Grand Senior Warden, J. S. Drummond, Vancouver Encampment, B. C. No. 1; R. W. Grand Scribe, J. M. Bacon, of Falls Encampment No. 4; R. W. Grand Treasurer, I. R. Moores of Willamette Encampment No. 2; R. W. G. Junior Warden, E. H. Stolte, of Ellison Encampment No. 1.

"How one thing brings up another!" said a lady, absorbed in pleasing retrospection. "Yes," replied the practical Dobbs, "an emetic, for instance." It can't be too often brought up that Beck & Wadman are selling new spring stock at absurdly low rates.

W. L. Adams, M. D., A. M., LL. D., corner of First and Salmon streets, is curing the most inveterate chronic diseases of all kinds at a low price, by medicated, electric lightning ... baths, and by combining the German and French with the American improved practice, mixed with a little common sense. His treatment is in the main, entirely original, and works almost miracles, as his numerous patients will attest. A lady always in the office to assist in treating women.

MR. JAS. LOTAN RISES TO EXPLAIN.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

In your issue of this morning, under the head of "Saturday's Primaries," you devoted considerable attention to me, giving me more notoriety than I had supposed I was entitled to and that, too, of an unenviable character, and withal making numerous grave charges against me.

So far as the charges and insinuations you have made apply to me, I pronounce them wholly and absolutely false and as being without the slightest foundation in point of fact.

In the article referred to, speaking of the former county convention, you say "it has been generally understood that the same delegates were to be selected in the city precincts. This it was thought, would secure a convention unpledged to any candidate for any office, and be the means of putting a ticket into the field without any jobbery in it. To this plan Mr. James Lotan, chairman of the county committee, was pledged." This, Mr. Editor, you should know and almost every one who had anything to do with the attempt lately made to heal the breach in the Republican party does know, to be untrue.

I have always stated, and it was universally understood that Mr. Caywood is, and has been for years, my personal friend, and no matter how I felt in respect to the advisability of nominating him for sheriff, I considered myself in duty bound to support him as long as he was in the field and sought the position.

When the proposition was first made to heal up old sores and attempt to reconcile both wings, if I may term them so, of the Republican party, I, being chairman of the county committee, with some other gentlemen, who for convenience sake, we will call straight Republicans, were selected to meet and confer with some few gentlemen that had been prominently identified with the Independent party.

After the first few interviews, and when the matter had assumed some definite shape and a reconciliation had been accomplished, and I thought it was time to make preparations for our county ticket, I withdrew from the meetings and consultations then going on, for the reason, as I openly avowed, that I was friendly to Mr. Caywood and considered myself under obligations to support him for sheriff, and as I found the gentlemen who comprised this conference were opposed to Mr. Caywood, it would be wrong in me to remain with them and learn their plans and projects for the coming campaign, so far as the office of sheriff was concerned, in which I could not join them. I, however, stated to all with whom I conversed upon this subject, that no matter what was the result and who was nominated by the Republican convention for sheriff, as well as the other offices, they should receive my earnest and unqualified support.

Your comments upon the proceedings at North Portland precinct, also do me great injustice. I shall briefly state what did transpire there, and permit you and your readers to draw your own conclusions:

Mr. Geo. L. Story, who is actively seeking the nomination for county clerk, as I have subsequently learned, was detailed to take charge of and carry North Portland precinct, and if possible, elect as delegates to the county convention the same gentlemen who had attended the former convention.

I went there to assist in electing as delegates gentlemen who were friendly to Mr. Caywood.

When the hour arrived for organizing I proposed to Mr. Story that as we were representing different interests we had better each select a judge and have them elected, which would obviate any disagreement or dissatisfaction, which proposition Mr. Story declined to entertain, and said he proposed to organize the primary his own way, and that I might do the same. Mr. Story then proposed a name for judge (I do not now recollect who it was), and he was promptly voted down. I then proposed two men for judges and they were elected by a large majority. I then proposed to Mr. Story that if he desired it, one of the judges would retire, and he could select some one to fill his place, but Mr. Story refused to listen to this. We then proceeded with the primary in the usual and ordinary way, and then Mr. Story started an independent primary in the same building and at a short distance from where we were holding the regular primary. The regular primary, the one that was first organized, received a large majority of the votes that were cast, of course Mr. Story's primary receiving only votes for Mr. Story's delegates, and the regular primary receiving only votes for gentlemen that were supposed to be Mr. Caywood's friends, though it is but fair to state that at neither place was any votes rejected.

These are the facts as they really exist, and all that I have done, and for which I have been so severely censured and unjustly abused is, that I have had the hardihood to express my preference for Mr. Caywood for Sheriff over his competitors. I had always believed that it was right for every citizen to support such men for office, as he saw proper, and that the primaries are the proper places to take the initiatory steps, and that it was commendable in him to do it honorably, openly and above board. If I am wrong in this, perhaps your strictures are not wholly groundless.

You have said also, "the convention should rebuke at once the attempt to carry primaries with hired roughs, and the committee man by admitting the delegates selected by the Republican primary, and rejecting those of the Caywood concern."

It seems to me that this is strong language to use, to call men that have acted with the Republican party for years, that have never followed strange idols, that never went off to any side show, or with any Dolly Varden ticket, and who would not, even for the sake of office, combine with the Democracy to defeat the Republican party, as has been done by some, "hired roughs."

There is another matter that I may as well advert to now—both sets of delegates voted for in North Portland precinct will undoubtedly present their claims for admission as delegates to the county convention. The convention is the sole judge of who should be admitted, and it, after a thorough investigation, will doubtless arrive at some satisfactory conclusion, to which all must submit, and the advice or dictation to the county convention by the OREGONIAN is uncalled for and unwarranted, and is especially inappropriate from so recent a convert to Republicanism as the OREGONIAN is.

I feel assured that I have been condemned by you upon a mere onesided statement, and had you had an opportunity to learn the facts as they are, the matter would have been entirely different, and I been spared the mortification that your article necessarily caused.

JAMES LOTAN.

The Offspring of Dyspepsia.

No class of invalids are more to be commiserated than the dyspeptic, since the malady from which they suffer is the parent of a more numerous offspring of tormenting symptoms than any other disease. On the other hand they are to be congratulated that there is a potent, safe and agreeable botanic remedy for all the torture that they undergo. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters powerfully invigorates the cellular tissue of the stomach, thus promoting an adequate secretion and flow of the digestive juices, vitalizes the shrunken and debilitated lining of the stomach, directs the bile into its true channel, and stimulates the inactive bowels and dormant liver. These radical effects are accompanied with the restoration of appetite, flesh, and sound repose and the removal of flatulence, heart-burn, nausea, palpitations of the heart, vertigo, high colored and scalding urine, water brash, headache, and many other harrassing symptoms of dyspepsia.

The oldest man in Oregon will be here at the Centennial, and during his stay will purchase a summer outfit at Rosenblatt's, 79 Front street, where bargains are offered.

NOTES FROM SALEM.

SOCIAL, PERSONAL, AND OTHERWISE.

Under date of May 15th, our regular correspondent sends the following:

Al Coolidge, of Silverton, who was recently injured by being thrown from a horse is improving rapidly.

Gen. M. V. Brown has ordered an election to fill vacancies in the Capital Guards, to take place at the Wigwam next Saturday evening.

The Universalists hold their annual State convention at Zena, on June 8th. Teams will be in waiting at Salem and Lincoln to convey participants thither.

The insurance adjusters employed in straightening out matters on the woolen mill's question will not complete their labors before the middle of the week.

A chimney burning out in B. H. Bowman's house caused a fire alarm and gave the boys a run as well as an opportunity to show their Sunday clothes. No damage.

Col. C. A. Reed's panorama of Oregon views will exhibit at Albany this evening. He has just completed an excellent view of that city on canvas which will be added.

A. B. Waterman, of this city, has in his possession a Chilian coin of 1825, valued at about sixteen dollars the duplicate of which there is probably no other in the State.

By the disbandment of the Aldine club, the prize bat won by them last season, reverts back to the original owner, Col. T. H. Cann, and the first and junior nines of the College club play a single game on Saturday next for possession of the trophy.

The remains of the late Samuel Allen were taken to Bellpassi for interment. A post mortem examination was made on Saturday last which fully verified the opinion of his physician, Dr. D. Payton, regarding the location of a cancer in the stomach.

The medical faculty of the Willamette University has completed arrangements for the publication quarterly of the Medical Journal, of which Dr. C. H. Hall is announced as editor and Munkers and Redington as publishers. It will probably appear about the first of June.

Three games of base ball were played here on Saturday last. The second nine of the College club beat the first nine in a practice game 29 to 23. The Acedemics and Excelsiors played a single game for the championship, the former winning by a score 40 to 21, and last but not least was the game between the Americans and Urals in which the former were victorious to the tune of 38 to 31.

Another fire alarm was given about 10 o'clock this morning, to which the department responded. It proved to be at the outer edge of the city limits, at least a mile distant from the engine houses. Chief Engineer Olinger at once ordered No. 1's to hoist their engine, as well as the hook and ladder company their trucks, sending No. 2's to the scene of action, they being in the lead. The boys settled down to their work with a vim, and were soon on hand, where they did excellent work in saving some large outbuildings but a few feet distant. The flames had too much headway on the house to be placed under control. The furniture was all saved, and the loss, amounting to about $1,000, was fully covered by a policy in the old Phœnix of Hartford, Connecticut.

WIDE AWAKE.

Whisky sour always gave Henry Clay the hiccoughs. The statesmen of the present day prefer Noble Whisky, and he who drinks it, thinks like a philosopher.

NOTICE.

Any business of mine, will be attended to by my son "Chas. F. Wightman," who will supply the "Wightman Process" to those suffering from Hemorrhoid or Piles, and diseases of the Rectum; his experience in the "Field Hospitals" of the "Fifteenth Army Corps," Gen. Sherman, during the whole of the late war, was probably greater than Surgeons have in a life time, out of the service. He will no doubt, give every satisfaction to those needing his services as "Assistant Surgeon" or otherwise. Thanking the citizens of Portland, and elsewhere in the State, Idaho and Washington Territory, for their confidence and liberality, I hope our short acquaintance has been of great advantage to all. My address until further notice will be "San Francisco, Cal." In Portland, "Chas F. Wightman N. E. cor. Stark and Fourth street, P. O. box 247."

DR. T. F. WIGHTMAN.

When you wish to present a respectable appearance dress well. All the young and old men in the town consider that the late importations at Jos. Kohn's are the best they have seen. Kohn is always "up to snuff," and provides his patrons with the latest and best. Examine the stock.

ONE DOLLAR EXPENDED now in purchasing a bottle of Jayne's Expectorant, by those troubled with a slight Cough or Hoarseness, or Sore Throat, may save the expense of a doctor's bill. A neglected Cough often ends in Consumption. A slight inflammation of the lining of the wind tubes the usual symptoms of which are Sore Throat and a Pain in the Breast frequently leads to Bronchitis. A day's delay may entail months of suffering. Better try at once Jayne's Expectorant, a standard remedy, whose curative properties have been tested by thousands.

THE WOMEN AND CHILDREN

(AN HORATIAN LYRIC)

O blest is he from business free
Like the merry men of old
Who tills his land with his own stout hand
And knows not the lust of gold

No sailor he on stormy sea
No soldier, trumpet stirred
And he shuns the town and the haughty frown
Of the courtiers fawning herd

But he bids the vine with her tendrils twine
Around the poplar tall
And he all things for which in the endless year
To the tree that clings his wall

Or a grazier keen on the pasture green
He sees his oxen feed
Or he shears his flock or he trims his stock
Of his rustic oaten reed

And when autumn at length in ... manly strength
Has raised his fruit crowned head
He plucks the pear with his ... care
And the grape with its ... red

With his knee on the ... to his God
For His mercies and His favors free
At the ... while he lists the song
Of the thrush in the oak tree

While the waters glide with the rippling tide
And the zephyrs softly creep
O'er the quivering leaves amidst the murmuring trees
And lull the senses to sleep

But when thundering Jove from his stores above
Sends wintry snows and rain
And rock and wood and field and flood
Lay bound in his icy chain,

With many a hound in the woods around
He hunts the grizzly boar
And ere daylight fade his gleaming blade
Is red with the monster's gore

When the sun has set he spreads his net,
And the partridge flutters glides
He takes the hare in his crafty snare
And the crane—a goodly prize

Mid joys like these what ills can tease
Who would remember pain?
He feels no wrong, and he laughs at the throng
Of the cares that swell love's train

If a loving wife—best staff of life
Be his and children dear
The fire burns bright with its ruddy light
His homeward step to cheer

At the cottage door when his toil is o'er
She stands with her smile so sweet,
And holds up her face with a modest grace
His welcome kiss to meet.

And children glad swarm round their dad
But the hungry man must dine
So she spreads the cloth and he sups his broth,
While she pours out her home made wine

THE COMMON PEOPLE OF EGYPT A correspondent of the London Times writing from Mansourah in the Delta of the Nile gives the following picture of the small Egyptian villages and their inhabitants Each village I saw was almost deserted Only a few old women remained in charge of the tiny children not yet fit to join in the struggle for existence all the rest—men women boys and girls—were out in the fields, working from sunrise to sunset to keep life together Other villages told the same story every traveler in Egypt confirms it and I am not going to draw any more harrowing pictures Quite enough has been said to show that the agricultural population—nine tenths of the whole people of Egypt—have benefited very little by the superficial progress, the material civilization for which the country is so remarkable The historian of Mehemet Ali said " The traveler sees with astonishment the richness of the harvest contrasted with the wretched state of the villages, and the introduction of railways and canals has not changed this unfortunate state of things But as regards what I have described, the genial Egyptian climate must always be remembered Sunshine and warmth for three parts of the year make a house of little importance and though earnings are very small, a constant succession of crops creates the same demand for labor at every season The Dorsetshire laborer, with his slack times and winter rains and climate demanding much food and clothing is an object of more legitimate pity than the Egyptian fellah But the Egyptian fellah ought not to be an object of pity at all Egypt is virtually a neutralized country, and war cannot devastate it The natural wealth of its soil is such that with a wooden plow, which, as compared to the English plow, is as a pin is to a spade, the land returns threefold the produce of any land in England The Nile does for Egypt what art has to do else where Yet in this country so favored by nature, the mass of the population is in a state of misery. From sunrise to sunset, men, women and children are at work in the fields to gain the barest necessaries of life The philosopher who deemed him happiest who has the fewest wants ought to have been an Egyptian fellah. He is sometimes even born in the fields The women work up to the day of their confinement They lie up one day and are out again the next and the baby is laid near them in the fields on a bit of sacking Ignorance and poverty lead to other sad consequences. Premature old age comes on at 40 and the population is kept down by a terrible infant mortality Out of the 140 000 annual deaths 80 000 are of infant children It has been calculated that three out of every five that are born die before the age of two For those that survive an old Egyptian custom that is still practiced is most symbolical of their future The child is put into a sieve and rolled about to the beating of drums It is in order to harden them say the people

UNITING THE CASPIAN AND BLACK SEAS—An American engineer of eminence Mr Spalding, has submitted to the Geographical Commission of Russia a remarkable report upon the Caspian and Black Seas Mr Spalding maintains that the Caspian is drying up and will slowly become a desert while the diminution of rainfall will destroy the surrounding territories This, he says, has already occurred in historic times whole countries having been desolated by the shrinkage of the Caspian He recommends that a deep and broad cutting should be made from the Caspian westward to a point where it would be five meters below the level of the Black Sea, and a smaller cutting from that point to the Black Sea The water of the latter which is 15 meters higher than that of the Caspian would then cut a deep and broad channel for itself and refill the Caspian to its old level giving in 50 years straight ocean communication between the Mediterranean and Persia The distance between the Black Sea and the Caspian is 160 miles The period required for refilling might be reduced one half by a cut connecting the Don and the Volga so that the waters of both rivers, instead of those of the Volga only might fall into the Caspian Mr Spalding calculates that the two cuttings might be finished in six years but says nothing of the expense which might however be reduced by the employment of convicts and the penal regiments in the army

The British Grain Trade

Those who are afraid that the wheat market will be overstocked will do well to study the returns of importations of that cereal into Great Britain The total of wheat for the year ... was ... cwts as against ... the year previous and ... in 18... This is exclusive of the imports from India which in 187 amounted to ... centals This shows a heavy annual increase since 1870 when the first shipment was made The returns for the first two months of last year as compared with the same time this year show as follows January and February 187... centals January and February 187... centals an increase this year of ... centals In the two months imports of Indian wheat What permanent effect this new wheat producing country will have upon the grain markets of the world there is much difference of opinion but from present appearances we are likely to have a rival by no means contemptible It has been stated that Indian wheat is much inferior to that produced in America but from the sample of the former article exhibited in the produce exchange in San Francisco recently this can hardly be true as experts pronounced it a most excellent quality of milling wheat

Domestic Produce.

The week opens with the weather very favorable for the farmers work Yet being dry enough to bake the ground nor wet enough to stop the plow For the growth of the crops already in it is not the best, but while they may come on slowly on account of the coolness of the atmosphere they will have time to mature and will yield all the better In Eastern Oregon the crops are all in and the growing weather in that section is reported In this valley there is still a great deal of sowing being done and though so late in seeding the farmers are confident of securing good crops should the season not turn out very dry before the latest sown shall take hold firmly

In the produce market there is not much new to report. Wheat buyers are doing almost nothing at present as there are no vessels here to load with that cereal and the prospect for speculation is decidedly a dull one Prices are nominally as last week but we hear of no transactions to establish quotations Oats are in fair demand with light receipts at current rates Mill feed is scarce and trade quiet. Potatoes are very plentiful for the season and prices tending downward, the new crop having come in. In California the Oregon product is down in the San Francisco market and shipments which have been largely in our favor will soon turn against us Provisions are still reported firm for all choice commodities in that line and maximum quotations are paid for desirable lots Hides and wool remain unchanged and no prospect is now seen for any immediate or near improvement in the market
